'Tis The Season

... to MAKE YOUR MARK!

This Holiday Season, custom decoration is essential for brand visibility and product personalization. Whether you’re customizing apparel, drinkware, promotional items, or corporate gifts, choosing the right imprinting method can make all the difference.

This showcases the most popular and effective decoration methods in the corporate gifting industry. Use this guide to learn about each process, its applications, and how it can elevate your brand presence.

Let’s bring your vision to life with custom imprinting that leaves a lasting impression!

Screen Printing

Applies ink through a mesh screen, making it ideal for bulk printing on apparel and flat products.

Embroidery

Uses stitched thread for a professional, long-lasting look on hats, bags, and uniforms.

Sublimation

Fuses dye into materials like polyester, producing vibrant, fade-resistant prints.

Heat Transfer Printing

Applies designs with heat and pressure, great for detailed logos on small production runs.

Pad Printing

Applies ink using a silicone pad, making it perfect for irregularly shaped items like pens, keychains, and drinkware. It’s precise, versatile, and ideal for hard-to-print surfaces.

Rotary Printing

Rotates cylindrical items like bottles and tumblers during printing for seamless, all-around coverage.

Tone-on-Tone

Uses matching or neutral shades to create subtle, stylish branding on apparel, bags, and promotional textiles.

Label Printing

Creates sharp product labels for branding and marketing.

Laser Etching

Removes the outer coating of coffee tumblers, exposing metal underneath for durable, high-contrast designs that withstand frequent use.

Wood Engraving

Carves designs into wood for rustic products like plaques, cutting boards, and custom signs.

Glass Etching

Removes the glass surface through sandblasting or chemical treatment, producing permanent designs on drinkware and awards.

Embossing

Raises designs on materials like paper, leather, and packaging, creating a premium, tactile finish.

Debossing

Presses designs into surfaces like leather and notebooks for a recessed, professional appearance.

Vinyl Cut

Cuts designs from vinyl sheets and applies them to flat surfaces like windows, signs, and vehicle decals for long-lasting, weather-resistant branding.

Foil Printing (Hot Stamping)

Applies metallic or glossy foil using heat and pressure adding a luxury finish to notebooks, packaging, and promotional items.
